International Women's Day (March 8) is a global day celebrating the social, economic, cultural and political achievements of women. International Women's Day is a collective day of global celebration and a call for gender parity. It is truly said by Audrey Hepburn, “The beauty of a women must be seen in her eyes, because that is the way to her heart, the place where love resides.”

Thereafter short speeches were delivered by Ms. Seema Rani, Chairperson, Women Grievance Cell, Dr. Jayati Ghoshal, Asst. Prof. (Communication Skills) and Mr. Aditya Tandon, Asst. Prof. (Information Technology). Their speeches were inspiring and the audience were spellbound.

Ghadwali Folk dance and song challenging the traditional role of women in the society was performed by students of the college, A solo act highlighting the issue of female foeticide was also performed.

Most girl students and women faculty and staff participated enthusiastically and wore orange color dresses to show solidarity and freshness. The function was unique and had a great impact on the audience to think about the present condition of the women and solve their problems.

The memory of this function will be in mind of all participants whenever they are in joyous or pensive mood. To end with the lines of William Wordsworth in his poem, “Daffodils”

“For oft when on my couch I lie,
In vacant or pensive mood,
They flash upon my inward eye,
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils”.
